In or Out of Our Classes, Whether at Work or Play,

We've Got the Action

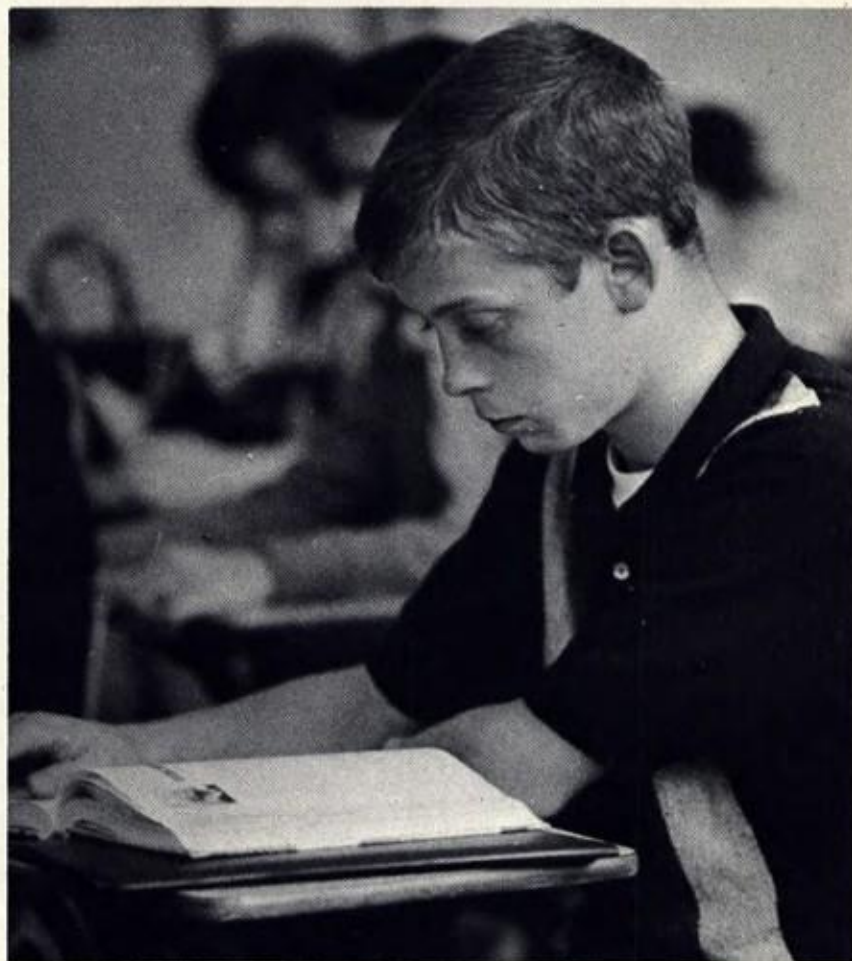

Action is a much used word today. It blazes out at us from billboards. We see it flashed across television screens. It assails our ears when we listen to the radio.

What is it exactly? At Kelvyn Park, it is many things.

It can be quiet. Picture a student working intently on an assignment. He looks peaceful, but his mind is moving as he questions and absorbs.

It can be noisy. Listen to our cheers from the stands as we urge our team on to victory. Hear the commotion when the newspaper staff hurries to meet a deadline.

Whether it is the quiet of concentration or the noisy show of school spirit, we are proud to have it. It shows that there is excitement in our classrooms, involvement in our co-curricular activities. It is the Kelvyn Park kind of action: the action of growing.

Pride, Work, and Enthusiasm Create Spirit Among Students

Schools are admired for their spirit or admonished for lack of it. Yet, how does one define school spirit? To many people, it means merely crowds and noise. But at Kelvyn Park, it is more.

We too back our teams with cheers. And our applause can be deafening when we greet a welcomed guest. But we have another side to our spirit. It is more elusive and harder to define. It can be seen in the smile on a student's face when she receives recognition for a job well done. It can be seen in the many hours and effort that students put into various school activities: dances, festivals, plays, clubs, and publications. What then is school spirit at Kelvyn Park? It is a combination of pride, hard work, and enthusiasm.

ENTHUSIASTIC STUDENTS welcome School Superintendent Dr. Benjamin Willis to the Harlem Globetrotter's annual benefit performance.

ON HIS WAY to basketball practice, Mike Kirkwood takes time out for a few friendly words with Pamela Altenburg.

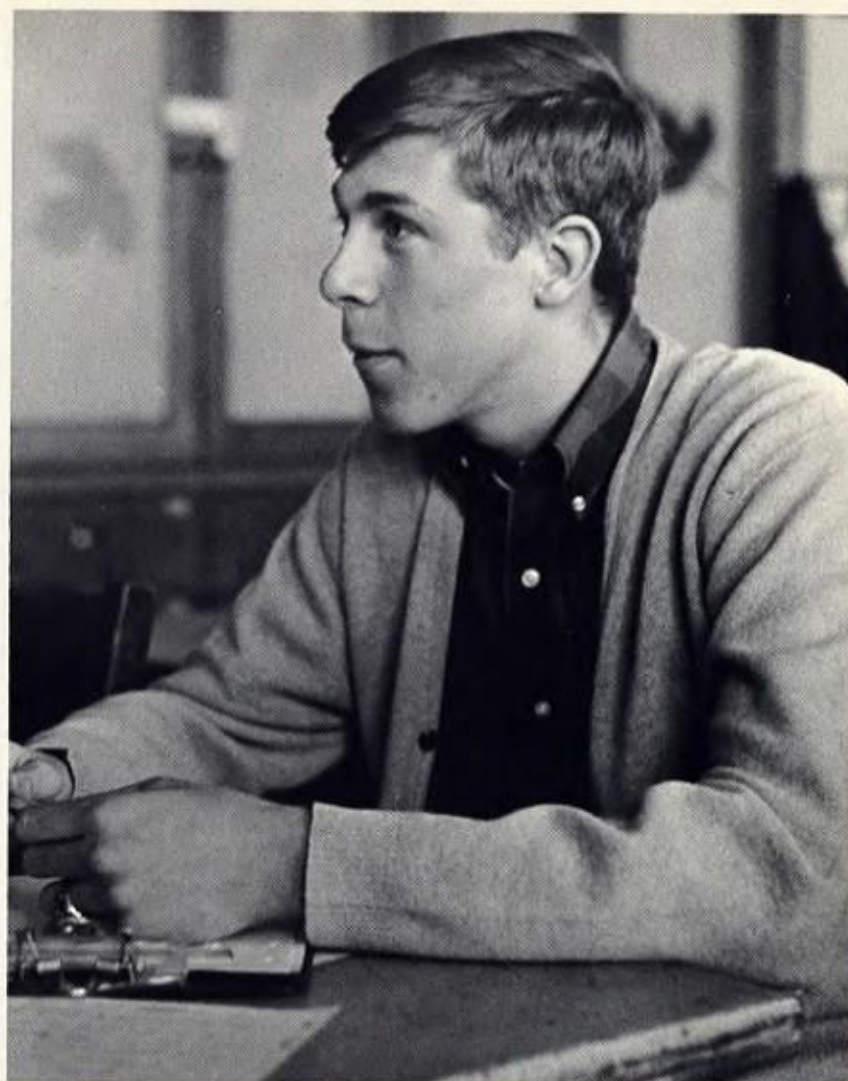

Bells ring, lockers slam, students scurry. The day begins. There are books to be read, homework to finish, tests to pass. Every forty minutes we find ourselves in a new room with a different teacher. Finally, lunch! We swap the latest gossip, discuss the newest fashions, and chomp into our sandwiches. But then there's that bell again. As we jostle through the halls, we catch that certain smile or simple hello. It makes us feel warm. It makes us feel we belong. Our next teacher cracks a joke, the class laughs, and soon we are off on a heated discussion. We leave the room chatting away with our classmates. A few months earlier, we hardly knew anyone in the class. But then there were the conversations, and new friendships began. We put our books away only to hurry off to a committee meeting or to sell skating party tickets or to finish a science fair project. All of this may be labeled routine. Perhaps it is. But it is routine with spirit.

Challenges During Daily School Scene

ATTRACTIVE MODEL Jane Lett poses in one of the latest teen fashions during the school's annual Fall Festival.

MANY FRANTIC HOURS of hard work converted this car into a panther—complete with eyes and ears. The students felt rewarded, however, when their car was voted to lead the motorcade.

Exciting, Colorful Homecoming Parade Leads Students into Active Social Season

Carton loads of paper carnations, drying posters, and miles of crepe paper heralded the opening of Kelvyn Park's 1965-66 social season. The event naturally was the school's annual Homecoming game and dance scheduled for October 22.

Despite the pressures of their school work, students found time to spend on preparing the girls gym and their cars for the big day. Talented artists turned the gym into a festive black and gold colored ballroom. From the top of the bandstand, a huge panther gleamed. Topping his head was the traditional school beanie.

Sadly enough, our hard-playing team lost to Crane, but Rita Cardona's gleam at halftime when she accepted her crown and led the exciting parade brought some cheer into the long anticipated afternoon.

Rita joined football star Warren Johnson—elected Homecoming king—and her court Joan Aubin, Rosemary Hardy, Judy Heider, and Lori Meshulam at the evening dance. There they all received flowers from Principal Dr. Wesley Amar and Assistant Principal Mr. Philip Brownstein, and led the dancing couples into the festive evening.

STUDENT COUNCIL president and football player George Weber crowns the elated Rita Cardona as Homecoming Queen.

Senior Drama Students Draw Laughter and Applause With Their Two Act Farce 'The Mouse That Roared'

MELINDA SKWARITCH portrays a friendly peasant girl from Grand Fenwick. She is also a grape-smasher.

Senior drama students had a hit on their hands when they presented the popular two act farce "The Mouse That Roared." Directed by Mrs. Patricia Biernat, the play drew many laughs as it portrayed the story of the Duchy of Grand Fenwick—a nation five miles long by three miles wide—and their declaration of war against the United States of America. Major characters of the play were Tully Bascom, a mild-mannered young man and leader of the subversive party, and Glorianna the Twelfth, a stately girl and the Duchess of Grand Fenwick. Countess Mountjoy, aunt to Glorianna, added touches of medieval grandeur to the court of the postage stamp size country.

TULLY BASCOM (Pete Mies) and Will Tatum (John Hayes) arrive from Grand Fenwick during a mock air raid in the United States. Ken Millar, Jim Holt, and Gerald Maynor are their captives.

SURROUNDED BY REFERENCE BOOKS, Senior English students Sharon Bourdon and Mark Blanton check material for their research papers.

Students for Active Roles in Society

An extensive English and foreign language program at Kelvyn Park helps students to develop their writing, reading, speaking, and reasoning abilities. Through a progressive study of grammar, composition, and literature, the students learn how to express themselves and how to judge and appreciate the ideas of others. They are reminded constantly in their language arts courses of man's need to be able to communicate in order to understand and work profitably with his neighbor.

In the Foreign Languages Department, students may select their studies from a variety of courses: French, German, Latin, and Spanish.

Likewise, the English Department has a wide offering of courses. Besides literary surveys, there are studies in American, British, and world literature. Electives include classes in drama, journalism, public speaking, and rapid reading.

Many co-curricular activities fall within the scope of the Language Arts Departments. School publications, language clubs, senior plays, and a variety of creative writing projects complement the work students study in their classes.

WITH THE HELP of a rapid reading machine, Judy McAdams works intently to increase her reading speed.

PUBLIC SPEAKING students Susan Gaul and Sharon Schweizer act out the roles of an interviewer and a typical student.

SPANISH LANGUAGE student Walter Egebergh puts his class through a vocabulary drill with the aid of a flip-chart.

of Sciences, Mathematics

Delving into the mysterious world of science and mathematics can be likened to entering a maze—unless one has the proper guidance. KP students find their necessary guides in the school's proficient and understanding faculty members.

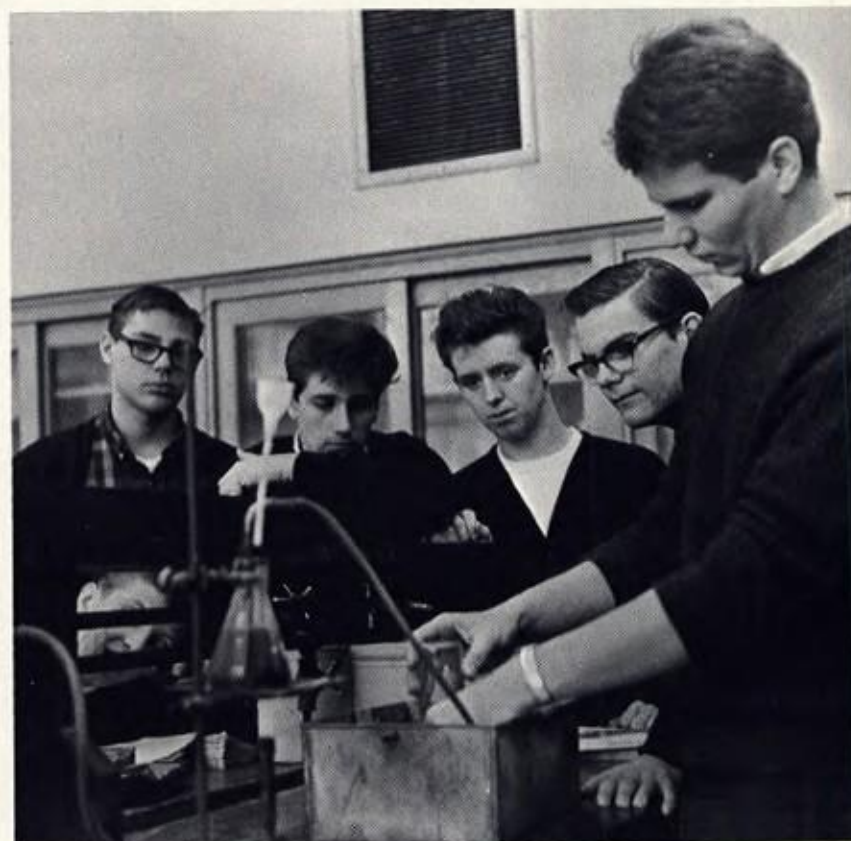

Beginning at freshman year and continuing into senior year, students may select their studies from a variety of science and mathematics courses.

General science, biology, physics, and chemistry explore relationships between plants and animals, the basic properties of cells, atomic energy, nuclear fission, radioactivity, and other fascinating topics.

Once students have learned how to track down that elusive X in algebra, they may go on to advanced classes: geometry, advanced algebra, and trigonometry.

The school's annual Science Fair gives the students opportunities to exhibit their work and acquired knowledge in both science and mathematics. And the many rewards they win brings them just satisfaction.

Practical Arts and Business Open

ADRIAN CHAPMAN sets type in printshop.

BOB BARTZ solves drafting problem.

In the area of applied arts, Kelvyn Park provides for students interested in industrial arts and home economics. The academic work in both fields prepares students for a variety of careers.

Courses in foods and clothing give the girls the necessary know-how in managing a home. Faced with the tasks of running their own homes some day, these girls will be able to do the job with ease.

For the boys, courses in industrial arts, mechanical drawing, printing, and woodshop can mean a reliable job in the future. And learning to work with wood, metal, and plastic while in school is also one way for boys to start a useful hobby.

Future jobs are also in the minds of students who sign up for commercial courses. This department offers one of the largest selections of courses in the school: typing, shorthand, office practice, business training, bookkeeping, economics, and commercial law.

Distributive education classes which were started in the school two years ago have become quite popular. Students enrolled in the class have the opportunity to learn the workings of various businesses in class and then put these things into use when they report to their jobs in the afternoon.

ENGROSSED IN THEIR WORK, office practice students Genie Pool, Pam Bandurski, and Vita Abbinante strive for perfection.

Varied Careers to Energetic and Persistent Students

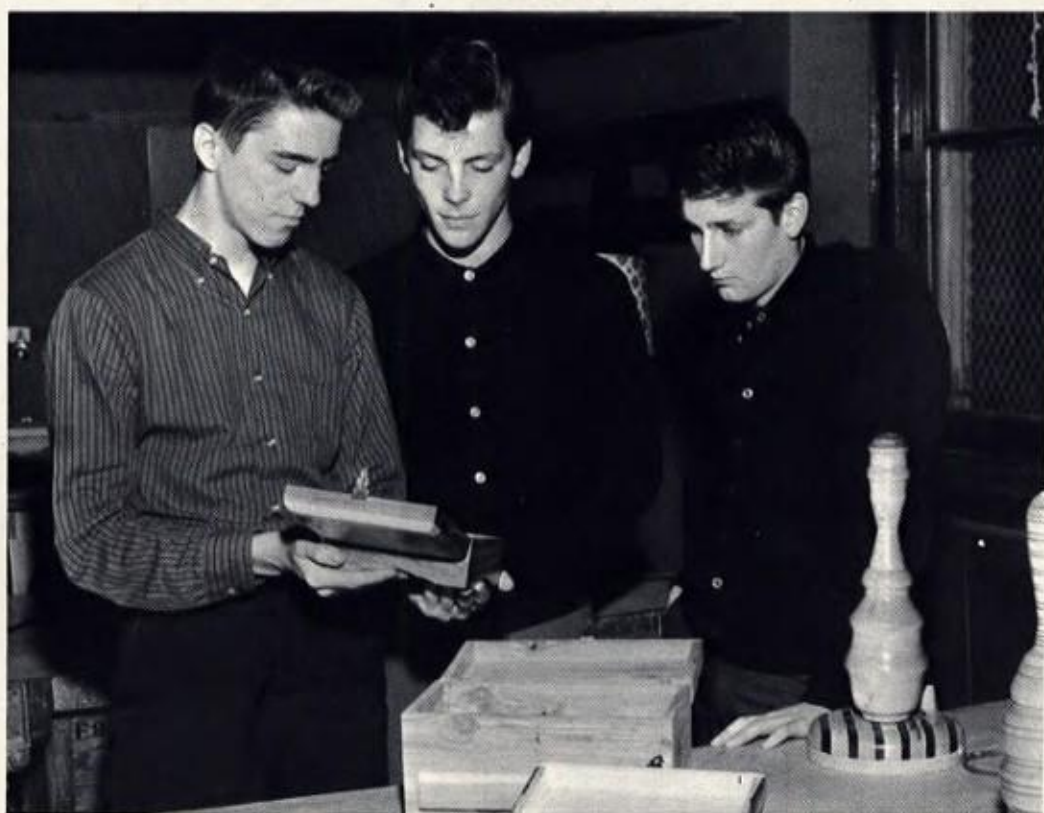

PRINTSHOP STUDENTS pay close attention as their instructor Mr. Daniel Zachary explains the procedure for setting up one of their many printing jobs.

LEARNING to operate a sewing machine will make home chores easier for Barbara Ozyuk.

MUSIC BOXES, jewelry cases, and lamp bases are just a few of the many handsome items that Paul Opila, Bob Groh, and Louis Feid find to admire in shop classes.

PROFICIENCY in typing will help Claudia Krysiak land an office job after graduation.

Extensive and Varied Social Studies Program

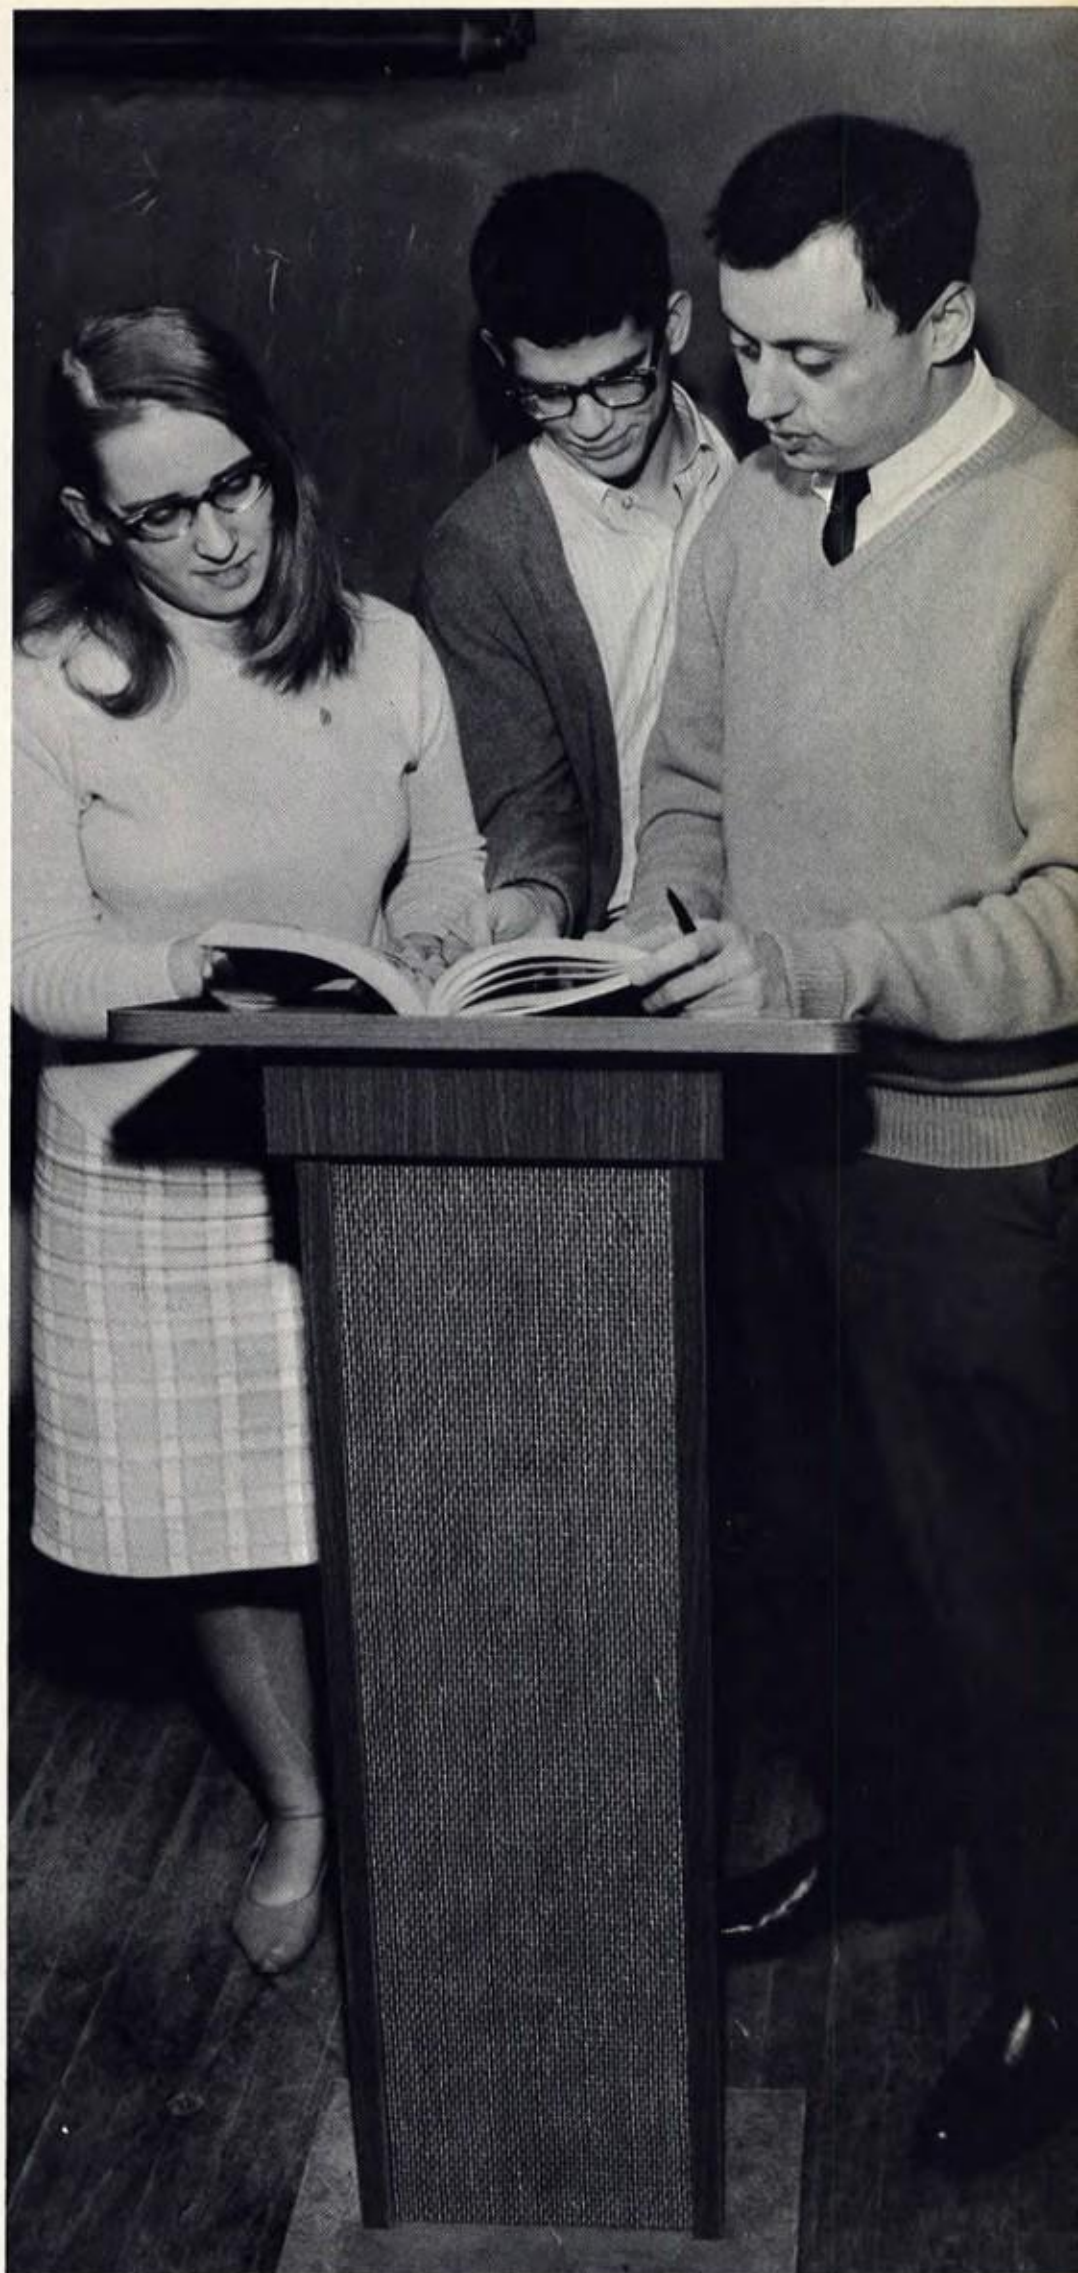

Three years of social studies keep students informed on the changes in world geography and about the things that made, were making, and are going to make history.

The students also find out during their classes that not all of their social studies come out of textbooks. Rooms are decorated with charts, maps, and posters. Hours are filled with important dates, men, and places. Time is made for listening to tapes, oral reports, and watching films. Journals are made, mock election committees formed, and special research papers written.

As time goes on, students become more aware of the importance of their studies. With the new phrases and terms they learn, they are better able to understand the events of today.

Besides the usual courses, the Social Studies Department offered an Advanced Placement class in European history for the first time this past year. Twenty-three students met daily for a combination lecture and study period.

The class had three aims: first, to give students grounding in the field of European history; secondly, to bring the students a taste of college level courses, and finally to prepare the participants for the Advanced Placement examinations.

ADVANCED PLACEMENT students Theresa Budniakiewicz and Cesar Gonzalez hold a discussion with teacher Mr. Joel Samaha.

TALENTED art majors Valborg Fletre and Paul Staples exchange smiles as they decorate a bulletin board with their work.

COLORFUL SCHOOL POSTERS are among the various art projects Linda Scarpelli and Susan Cassa learn to design.

Fine Arts Courses Develop Creative Talents

Teaching students to appreciate and participate in the fine arts is one of the main goals of the Art and Music Departments. During the time spent in these classes, students develop creative abilities they often did not know they possessed. Others are encouraged to expand their creative talents further, and sometimes spurred by their successes, they continue in the field of art or music after graduation.

Awards were much in evidence this year as usual for the students in art and music. Their fine work was also appreciated during the various school exhibits, shows, and assemblies.

Besides the practical work they did in class, these students also took advantage of the various cultural activities that take place in Chicago. Art students were encouraged to visit the Art Institute and other art exhibits. Music students attended a special student performance presented by Lyric Opera and a lecture-demonstration sponsored by the Board of Education.

Physical Education Keeps Body and Mind Alert

Although physical education courses may make students feel physically unfit after strenuous periods of exercise, it can also be fun.

For the girls, the various games and folk dances are invigorating. The health and drivers education classes are informative and practical. And even the most unathletic girls realize eventually that their classes teach them poise and coordination.

Boys generally enjoy physical education more than the girls do. They do exhausting exercises gladly to develop muscles. During the year, they also find enjoyment in swimming, football, basketball, baseball, and wrestling. The final results add up to alert bodies and minds.

SWIMMING keeps Walter Egebergh in fine physical shape. Here he executes a butterfly.

PHYSICAL DEXTERITY is exhibited by Valerie Juske, Marilyn Coyle, Melody Kassner, Pat Wozniak, Marlene Schwarz, Betty Gatlin, and Louise Salyers as they form a human pyramid in their second year physical education class.

Athletics at Kelvyn Park are recognized as a contributing factor in the total education of young students. Through a broad program which includes football, wrestling, basketball, swimming, and baseball, the high school encourages its students to attain the healthful physical development and emotional maturity that can be gained from competitive athletics played in the proper spirit.

ATHLETICS

Inexperience and Injuries Plague '65 Football Season

by George Weber

Kelvyn Park's Panthers ended the 1965 football season with a 2-5 record. It was their second season in the Northwest White Division. The team's lack of success can be probably attributed to the relatively small sizes of the players and to a few injuries to key personnel. Graduation of practically all of last year's starters did not leave this year's team with many experienced players.

The KP Eleven started the season off with a bang by white-washing Senn. Panthers rolled up four touchdowns and one extra point while not allowing Senn to cross the goal line once. Louis Ortiz led the team in the scoring column with two T.D.'s while Tom Des-Enfants and Dan Vasquez each had one. Eric Jensen went into the end zone for the P.A.T.

League play opened with a muddy thriller against Harrison. Warren Johnson displayed his fine running ability by dashing 60 yards for a touchdown. He also tossed the ball over the line to Des-Enfants for KP's other score. Harrison bounced back and scored. They threatened to score again in the final seconds of the game, but the stout Panther defense held them deep in KP territory. The final 12-7 score was the Panthers only league victory of the season.

The heartbreaker for '65 was the game against Amundsen which the Panthers lost by a score of 13-7. All of the school's points were made by quarterback Johnson. A victory over Amundsen would have given the Panthers a shot at the playoffs.

Ending the season on a sour note, the Panthers lost the Homecoming game against Crane 21-0 and were shut out 54-0 at the hands of a fine Farragut team.

Impressive Wrestling Team Places Sixth in First Season

Kelvyn Park's wrestling team, hampered by injuries, completed the season with an excellent record—considering that this was the first year of the team's existence.

The mat men's league record of two wins and five losses enabled KP to place sixth in a league of eight. The team's overall record was 3-8 with league victories over Foreman and Lake View and a practice victory over Walther Lutheran.

Four of the wrestlers deserve special commendation for qualifying for entrance in the city tournament. They are Joe Gutierrez (112 lbs.), Louis Ortiz (154 lbs.), John Brzezinski (165 lbs.), and Jim Taft in the heavyweight class.

The team had a stroke of bad luck when they lost the services of two important wrestlers for approximately half of the season. Team Captain Dan Hala-zonitis had a leg injury and Al Sepulveda was ineligible. Even with these handicaps, both men were able to stack up a total of five wins each, three of which were in league competition. With such encouragement during the team's first season, Coach Richard Kerby is looking forward to next season's meets.

Finishes Season
With 10-9 Record*

by Fred Wolff

At the finish of their third season in the Red Division, the Basketball Team had an overall record of 10 victories and nine defeats.

The Panthers started out with an impressive 7-2 record in their practice games which included a heated battle with Crane. Although KP lost by three points, it was an outstanding showing considering the caliber of the opposition.

After the practice games, the first round of the league games climaxed in a stunning victory over the Lane Indians. This triumph was said by many to have been the greatest comeback victory seen in high school basketball games in many a year.

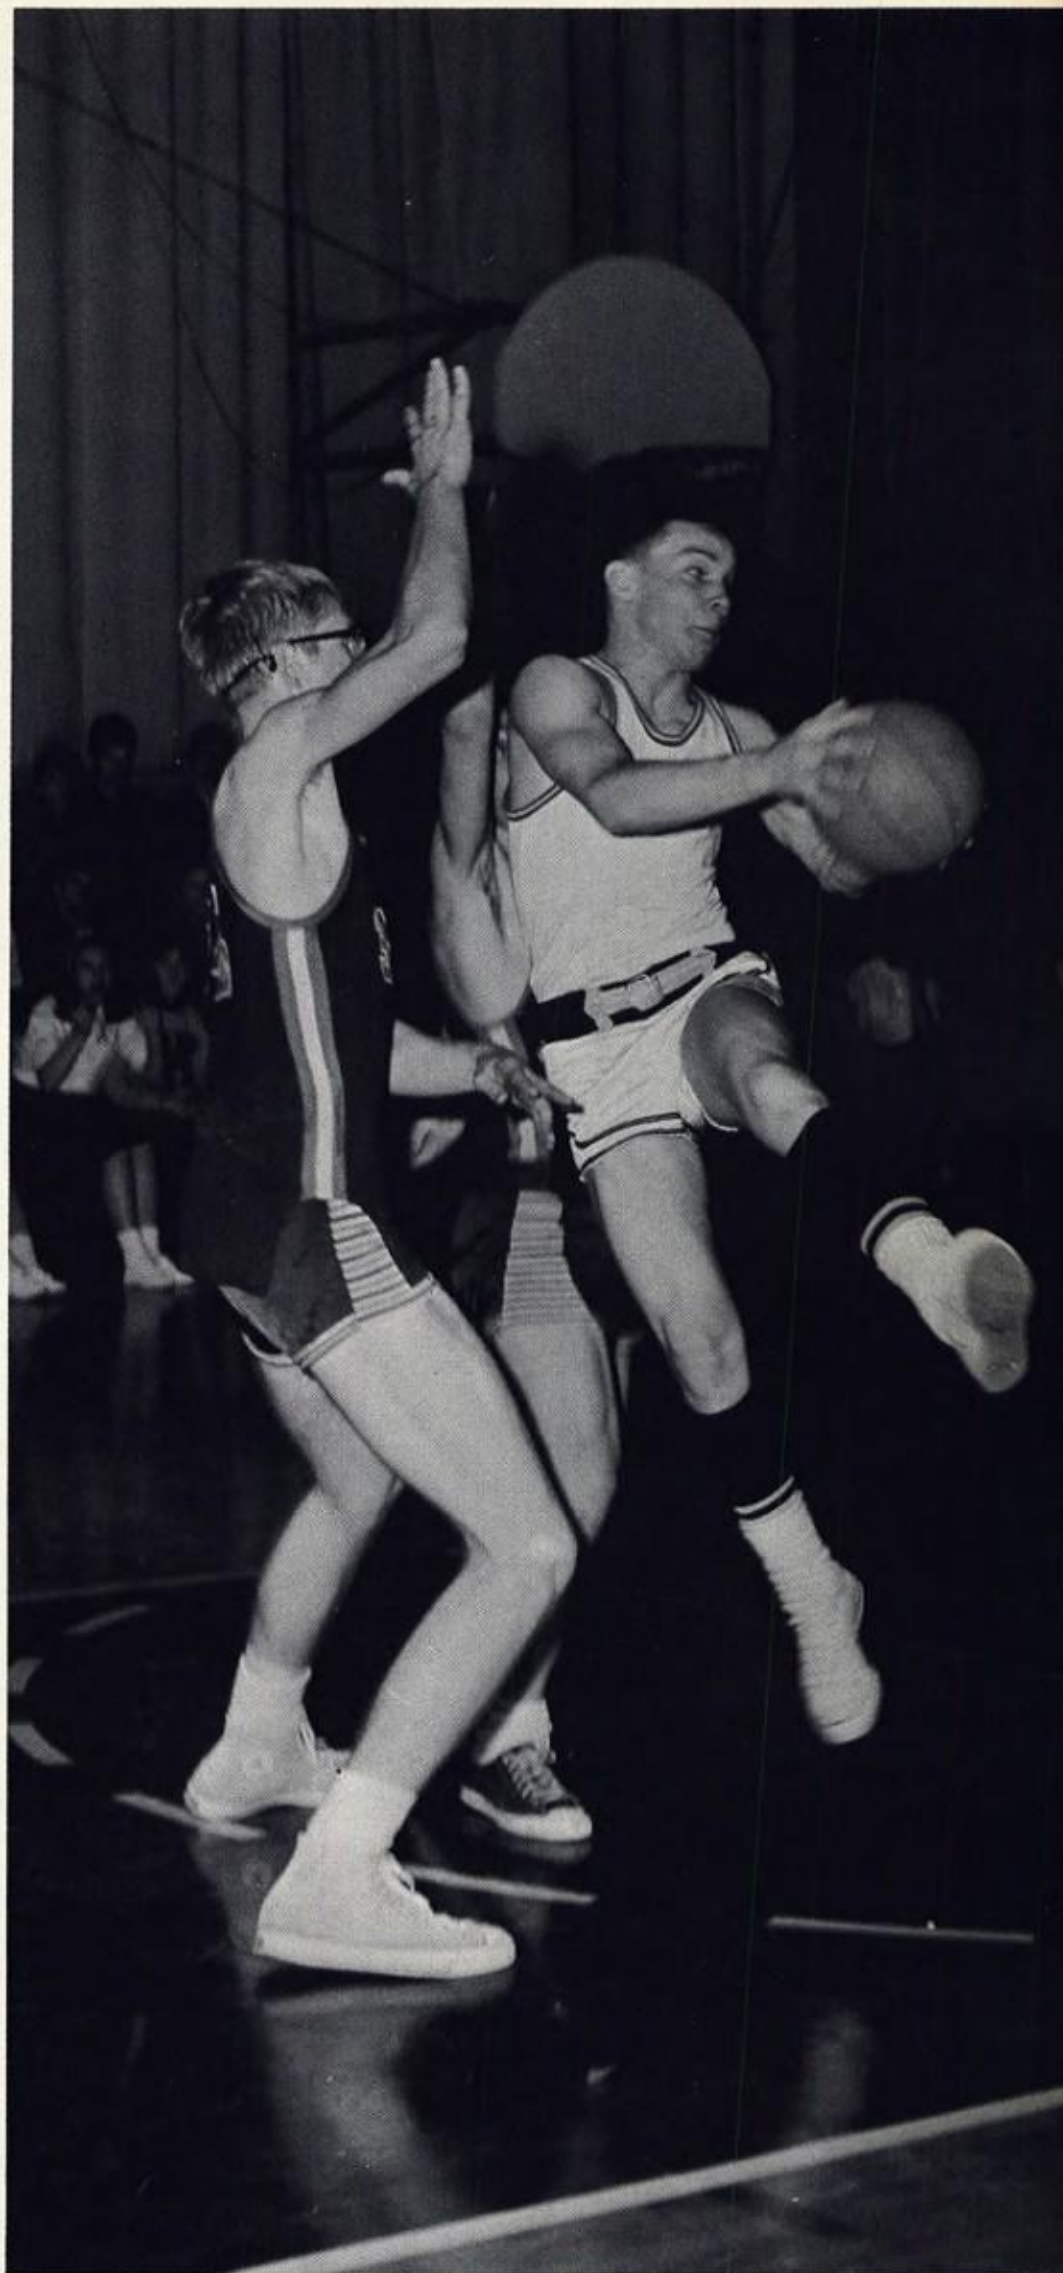

During the game, the Panther Five rallied after a 23 pt. deficit at halftime to a final victory of 72-67. The spirited and hard-fought win was due to the efforts of such fine players as Warren Johnson who was high scorer with 22 pts. and Rich Czyz who came in a close second with 18 pts. Ron Sliwa and Tom DesEnfants also aided the cause by combining for a total of 25 pts. while pulling down 24 rebounds.

The Lane game was Czyz's last for KP since he graduated at half-season. However, this did not stop the Panthers from scoring. Johnson finished 7th in the North Section Red Division scoring race with a point total of 213.

The season's second round did not prove to be as satisfying as the first for it only yielded KP one victory—that one being against Taft. Nevertheless, whether winning or losing, the team showed its fine spirit by always playing with a relentless and determined attitude.

Swimming Team Shows Promise During First Round

SWIM COACH Mr. Leon Kamajian gives a few tips to star swimmer Gene Garner before plunging into a big meet.

When the yearbook went to press in March, the Swimming Team was already submerged in its midseason with a 2-3 record for the first round of dual meets.

Coached by Mr. Leon Kamajian, the tankmen won dual meets over Foreman and Lake View and lost to Lane, Schurz, and Steinmetz. For their second round, the swimmers were counting on a lot more effort and a better record.

During the first round of the season, the swimmers gave their best performance in their meet with Lake View. They swam away with seven first place honors. Co-Captain Ron Ekeberg came up with two of them: first place honors in the 160-yard and 50-yard free style.

The tankmen have not only done well in league competition, but have also performed admirably in the city-wide swims.

West Section Baseball Champs Rebuild Team for '66

by Don Gray

With last year's successful record to inspire them, this season's Baseball Team began spring practice with new fervor.

Last year, the Panthers racked up 15 wins and only three losses. Although they were defeated by Schurz in the play-offs, they were still considered one of the best teams in the city. They worked hard all season and fought their way right to the West Section Championship. The 1965 Co-Captains Dave Harper and Arnie Goldzweig were named to the All-City Team.

This year's squad has a lot of rebuilding to do. Coach George Nahabedian has only three returning lettermen in the team: Tom DesEnfants, Warren Johnson, and Ron Sliwa. However, if they measure up to their past performances, it should be quite a year for KP's Baseball Team.

Activities play an important part in the Kelvyn Park curriculum. Ranging in purpose from social, career, athletic, and honorary groups, the activities exist to serve. They act as outlets for the student to receive recognition as well as enjoyment. By joining the groups, the students learn to serve their school, their own needs, and their community. In short, they are complementing their class studies.

Achievement, Spirit, Fine Sportsmanship

Top students who excel in studies, activities, and sportsmanship are tapped twice a year for membership in Kelvyn Park's three honor societies.

The National Honor Society, sponsored by Mrs. Margaret Harris, is the one organization most coveted by students. Only a small percentage of students are asked to join in accordance with the society's rules. These students must not only be in the upper ranks of their classes but also show proof that they are active in the school's various activities. During the past year, the members showed their good will and spirit by tutoring other students.

Quill & Scroll International Honor Society members are all journalists. They work on either The Panther or Kelvynian, and they rank in the upper third of their classes. Sponsors Miss Mary Dowd and Mr. Douglas Martin select eligible students on the basis of the work they have done on either of the publications. Each year the society sponsors skating parties in order to award scholarship prizes.

Outstanding athletes and ROTC cadets are called in for membership in the K Klub. Sponsored by Assistant Principal Mr. Philip Brownstein. The club has the distinction of being the oldest in the school.

EXPRESSING DELIGHT, Sue Kazmercak and Mrs. E. Kazmercak receive congratulations from Dr. W. Amar after NHS induction.

With their noses trained for sniffing out news and their eyes alert for situations that will make good pictures, the staffers are one of the school's busiest groups.

Room 321 which serves as a working and meeting place for both The Panther and Kelvynian staffs is usually buzzing with activity. Until a couple of years ago when the yearbook staff found itself roomless, the newspaper staff alone used the publications room. Today, with both staffs, it has twice as much hustle and bustle.

On one side of the room the newspaper people are busy pasting and rewriting to meet deadlines. On the other side, the yearbook group secretly plans pictures and copy. The two groups join occasionally to lend photographers or the services of a specialized writer.

In the midst of all this activity, The Panther Adviser Miss Mary Dowd and Kelvynian Adviser Mr. Douglas Martin do their best to keep cool heads and answer hundreds of questions. Nevertheless, it works. The newspaper staff has never missed a deadline, and the yearbook staff racked up its second consecutive First Place rating from NSPA last year.

HURRYING TO MEET A DEADLINE, Panther editors Carol Sorger, Roberta Herche, and Linda Rivers concentrate on writing front page headlines.

Active Student Council Sponsors Security Program

WITH VICE PRESIDENT Judy Heider and Treasurer Mabra Lonstine by his sides, President George Weber opens a Council meet.

Student Council members continued their activities for another year under the sponsorship of Counselor Miss Mary Corbett.

In guiding the student governing body, Miss Corbett found she was working with some of the school's most conscientious students. Whenever they were called upon to help the school in one way or another, they responded with alacrity and efficiency.

Among the Council's most important projects this year was the security assembly. Led by President George Weber, the assembly reviewed the school's security rules before the entire student body. Everyone was encouraged to familiarize themselves with the school's rules and regulations in order to make the school a more secure and pleasant place. Evidence of the respect and confidence that students place in the governing group was reflected in the fine reception given to the assembly. And more important were the results that the Student Council help bring about during the following months.

Student Assistants Lend Helping Hands to Teachers During Hectic Schedule

Ever-important people in the daily scene are the student assistants who help teachers and other personnel in performing the many jobs necessary in a large school.

Library and office assistants give up their study periods in order to do various clerical jobs. In the counseling office, other cooperative students can be seen lending helping hands.

Book Room Coordinator Mr. Glen Cady and Audio Visual Coordinator Mr. Jerome Herdrich also depend upon these students to help process and deliver books and audio visual equipment. Directed by Mr. Ferdinand Heimberger, the stage crew takes care of all stage and public address equipment needs.

The hall guards are another important group in the school. They care for the school's security, direct guests, and keep halls tidy.

In divisions, Panther and Kelvynian representatives have the responsible jobs of distributing the school's newspaper and selling the yearbook. Without their fine help, these publications would find their existence almost impossible.

Choruses, Concert Band Charm School with Music

Striving for perfection in tone, balance, and presentation, Kelvyn Park's musical groups spend many hours practicing. Their daily grind, however, pays off when they listen to the applause awarded them at the school's various assemblies and festivals.

Newly formed this past year, the Concert Band, under the direction of Mr. Joseph Puppel, showed signs of improvement at each new appearance.

The Mixed Chorus and Girls Chorus, directed by Mr. Charles Avichouser, received an S rating at last year's annual city competition. They could be heard practicing daily again this year as they worked toward repeating their top rating.

Both groups made several appearances during the past year. The Fall and Spring Festivals featured their artistry. They were also in evidence at graduation and in several of the school's assemblies.

HIS EYES ON THE MUSIC and his hand waving the beat, Mr. Charles Avichouser guides his chorus in a practice session.

Vocation Organizations

DE MEMBERS Robert Josh and Ann Zimmer work with instructor Mr. Harold Rappoport in setting up a store display.

Plagued with indecision and concern over what to do after graduation, career-minded students found many of the answers they were seeking in KP's vocation organizations.

The Distributive Education Club of America, sponsored by Mr. Harold Rappoport, is actually an extension of the DE classes. However, membership in the club gave the students time to spend on matters they did not always have time in class to discuss.

Girls who were considering the nursing career joined the Future Nurses Club. There they were able to air their various questions and listen to the advice and suggestions of their experienced sponsor Miss Na-Deen Haley.

The Future Teachers Club of America met regularly to listen to lectures and watch films on teaching. A trip to the Illinois Teachers College gave them further insight into the necessary training it takes to become a teacher. Finally, plans were made with schools for the students to practice teach.

Athletic Groups Promote Spirit and Sportsmanship

High spirits and good sportsmanship were the key words among the girls' athletic organizations during the past year.

Prompted by Miss Christine Marszalek, the vivacious Cheerleaders led the crowds in cheers and a general show of spirit at the games. Likewise, Mr. Eugene Steinfeld's group of Baton Twirlers added color to the games' festivities. Their performances at halftime added that special sparkle.

The Girls Athletic Association, sponsored by Mrs. Dorothy Mustari, remains as one of the school's most popular organizations. Although bowling was one of their favorite pastimes, the girls also took time to sponsor a Sock Hop, a volleyball tournament, a swim meet, horseback riding, and softball games.

Hobby Organizations Reflect Kelvynites' Many Interests

Students interested in expanding and sharing their hobbies found several outlets in Kelvyn Park's interest clubs.

Chess players met regularly under the sponsorship of Mr. Allen Cooper to match their wits with other members.

Mr. Herman Rahn's Camera Club took advantage of his know-how in advancing their own camera skills. They not only took pictures, but they also learned how to develop and print them.

Musically inclined students who joined the Performers Club, sponsored by Mr. Eugene Steinfeld, acquainted themselves with performing techniques and the newest innovations in music. They were in much demand whenever shows or dances were put on by the school.

Students Develop Creativity in Co-curricular Clubs

Kelvyn Park's co-curricular clubs provide students with a variety of organizations to suit many tastes and preferences.

The Science Club drew students who were interested in adding to their knowledge of science obtained in classes. Directed by Mr. Leland Hansen, the group attended lectures, discussions, and field trips related to their subject.

Debaters were organized by Mr. Joel Samaha to practice and polish their oratory skills in effective argumentation.

Mrs. Marie Carlson's Math Club was another organization that complemented the work done in classes. Through informal group discussions and demonstrations, the students furthered their study of math.

Students in the Art Club, sponsored by Mrs. Ethel Adams, worked on designs for a new club emblem during the past year. They were also in evidence at the various Art Institute shows. After attending such exhibits as those of Giacometti and Matisse, they found new inspirations.

Language Clubs Complement Classroom Studies

Complementing their language classes with co-curricular activities gives foreign language students additional insight into the customs of other national groups.

Directed by Mrs. Edith Wright, the active French Club added to their knowledge of Gallic customs and also raised funds for worthy causes.

Mr. William Bock's German Club members listened to guest speakers reminisce about Germany and corresponded with students in Europe.

The Latin Club, sponsored by Mr. John Martin, had a Roman flavor in their annual club breakfast and banquet. Included among their activities was a language clubs' volleyball game.

Miss Nellie Anguiano's Spanish Club presented a puppet play, "Las Aventuras de Rafael," at Illinois State Teachers College. Performed for the Spanish Clubs of Northwest Chicago schools, it proved a big success.

Kelvyn Park's Reserve Office Training Corps, directed by SFC Jerry Hogston, had at least two good reasons for listing the past year as one of their best:

First, the Honor Guard placed third out of eight schools in the District Championship. Second, Cadet Sgt. James Dohl received first place in the individual drill championship for sophomores and juniors. He was the second cadet in Kelvyn Park's history to place in the city competition since 1947.

During the competition, Sgt. Dohl tied with another cadet and a rematch took place. In the rematch both contestants drilled against each other for 10 minutes. When the points were totaled, Sgt. Dohl received the least number of points taken off for errors, thereby placing third.

To celebrate their victories, the ROTC gave a Military Ball in December. Patricia Threlkeld was elected queen of the gala evening.

People at Kelvyn Park are more than just administrators, teachers, and students. They are people who care. They appear as a "hello" in the halls, an acquaintance in second period, a guide in classes. Whether firm-lipped or smiling, the teachers' very presence show their concern. And whether studying quietly or cheering loudly, the students show too that they care about being one of Kelvyn Park's people.

Administration Changes Bring Farewells and Welcomes

As the school year was rolling to an end and the year-book was about to go to press, it was announced that Kelvyn Park's principal for the past six years, Dr. Wesley F. Amar, was being transferred to Waller High School. He assumed his new duties there on May 16. Shortly after, on May 31, Dr. Bernard A. Quish began his term as the school's new principal. Dr. Quish was formerly principal of Hearst Elementary School.

Dr. Amar has been with the Chicago school system since 1934. From 1952, until he came to Kelvyn Park, he was principal of the Graham Elementary School. For the past three years, Dr. Amar has made nationwide headlines with his successful anti-smoking campaign at Kelvyn Park.

The Kelvynian joins the school in wishing Dr. Amar a fond farewell and Dr. Quish a hearty welcome.

TO THE GRADUATES

All of us at Kelvyn Park, along with your parents, relatives, and friends wish for you the best of everything, and—what is equally important—that you have the faculty of recognizing what is best at the moment. Cultivate your sensitivity and awareness. Be not a Jamesean spectator of life but one who is ready to grapple with problems—one who turns toward life, not away from it. In that mode, you can make a significant contribution!

IN A DILEMMA?*

*Webster: A problem of seemingly unsatisfactory solution.

This is the situation that many graduating seniors find themselves in—a dilemma. They're graduating and ready to take on the world, but when they apply for that first job, they find the first qualification they must have is experience. And how do you get experience unless you have a job? Most of us have faced the same dilemma at one time or another. Practically everyone overcomes this obstacle and you will too! The important difference is to get started with the right job and a good company as quickly as possible.

At ITW, we frequently have openings for graduates whose high school experience has prepared them for the next step up. If you have good grades, mechanical, clerical, typing, or stenographic skills, chances are we can help you out of your dilemma. If this is the case, we invite your consideration.

Remember though, being READY to work is one thing, being PREPARED to is another. In order to prepare yourself for the job you wish, it may be that you plan to go on to college. If this is the case, then we strongly recommend that you continue your education.

OUR ADVICE—GO TO COLLEGE. YOU WON'T REGRET IT AND NEITHER WILL WE. REMEMBER, WE HIRE COLLEGE GRADUATES TOO!

Kelvyn Park Loses a Friend — Abe Saperstein

Abe Saperstein, founder and manager of the famous Harlem Globetrotters, died on March 15 of a heart ailment. He was 63.

Mr. Saperstein was a special friend of Kelvyn Park. For more years than the school can remember, he and his Globetrotters played benefit games for the school. At the last benefit on October 27, 1965, the school presented Mr. Saperstein with a blanket inscribed with Kelvyn Park's letter to honor him and his many charitable works in behalf of the school. Little did we realize at the time that it would be Mr. Saperstein's last KP benefit. We, together with the rest of the world, mourn "Basketball's Little Giant."

For the past year we have been involved with the action that fills our school. Teachers and students constantly on the go have provided us with the material that fills these pages. Now that all the picture schedules have been completed, the copy written, and the deadlines met, it is time to say "goodbye." But before we do, we raise our slightly tired heads to say "thank you" to all the people who have made this hectic job so rewarding: the management and photographers at Walingier Studio; Mr. Robert Hyson, our Taylor Publishing Company representative, the Student Council for its generous contribution, and Mr. Tom Coughlin of Root Studio for his special candid. Most of all, we thank Mr. Douglas Martin, our adviser, who gave us help and understanding when we needed it most. Farewell . . .

Dear Pam,

I have so much to say & I can't think of a darn thing. Here goes. We've been through a lot of fun together, at your P.T. Party last year, at Old Town, (the few times that I went) at club, and at the lunch table in school. Of course, never forget the Prom & the great picnic when we got lost. Jack Jones was great, wasn't he? I hope our club continues so we can all be together after we graduate. Be good to your boyfriend (which ever one you may choose) and I hope your next years will be as much fun as the last 4. Love, Basil

Dear Pam,
Best of luck always to the person who understands my troubles. God
be with you through
